SNOW fell in the north part of Michigan last Sunday.

MR. BLAINE is at the front again. He has actually carried the state of Maine!

In 1884 the Republican majority in Maine was nearly 20,000; this year it will scarcely be 14,000.

ROBT. F. WOLF, of Haydenville is the Prohibition candidate for County Treasurer.

We are to have music taught in our public schools as a regular study. Prof. Sparks will be the teacher.

THE Connecticut Republicans favor a little tariff reduction and denounce the Democrats in Congress for attempting to accomplish it.

THE Democratic ticket is now made from beginning to end. Let every Democrat in Hocking county do his duty, and see that the whole ticket is elected.

OF course the "Britannia rules the waves." There is a long string of history behind that statement; but in getting through the waves Columbia still keeps possession of the cup.

DR. SHEPARD, a man up in Franklin Co., is the Republican nominee for Congress in this District against Hon. J. H. Outhwaite. Shepard will be elected by 4000—to stay at home.

COL. KEMPEL, of Wheeling W. Va., will be at the reunion here. He has the reputation of being one of the most eloquent orators as well as one of the greatest humorists of whom the country boasts.

LOOK out now for a RED HOT Republican campaign in Hocking under the management of S. H. Bright, Chairman. D. H. Willard, Sec., and Eli M. West Treas., of the Republican Executive Committee.

WE see, by the Lancaster Gazette, that Judge Friesner is about to remove from here to that place. We think the Gazette is mistaken. It is more probable that he will remove part of Lancaster to Logan.

AN attempt to wreck a passenger train at Westfield, Mass., on Monday, by which the engineer was killed, coming directly after the blowing up a switch tower on the Lake Shore Road near Chicago indicates that there is an urgent necessity for punishing some of the perpetrators of this kind of crime. It belongs to the bomb-throwing category.

John T. Norris has been lying in jail at Tiffin, O., charged with compounding a felony. John was unable to obtain a bondsman. If John himself is to be believed, as to the exploits he has been guilty of, he ought to have been put in the Penitentiary years ago and kept there.—Jackson Standard.

We always thought justice would overtake "Old Stumpy." Move that he receive a life sentence.

THE late Republican Postmaster at Savannah, Ga., who proposes to contest the right of the President to remove him, is about the worst specimen of Republican crank yet produced. With such people the general Republican impression that this country belongs to the people of God, and that the Republicans are God's people, has reached a mania. A sole leather plaster scientifically applied about the only thing that will cure the delusion.

THE Knights of Labor in St. Louis at a secret Sunday meeting, according to the Associated Press report, endorsed the boycott instituted by the Brewers' Union against firms which have not acceded to the terms demanded by striking workmen. It is a mistake to stick to the boycott, particularly now that the courts have pronounced it an illegal proceeding. The Knights will find that the boycott will stick to them long after they have been convinced that it is criminal folly. No secret conclave is strong enough to resist the law when the law rests on a basis of fair dealing and right.

A lesson taught by the splendid Republican victory in Maine is a great lack of confidence in the administration. It has sounded like an alarm bell to the Democracy of the Nation.—Athens Herald.

How the Republicans do crow over carrying the election in Maine, as if they had doubted all along their ability to carry the state. If the Republicans had doubts, they certainly were all the persons who ever thought the result would be different from what it was in the long series of past years. The Republicans have been doing the same thing with Maine in the Presidential elections for a quarter of a century. In 1860 Abraham Lincoln's plurality was 86,000. The Republican Presidential candidates carried the state—in 1868 by 28,000, in round numbers, in 1872 by 32,000, in 1876 by 18,000, in 1880 by 9,000 and in 1884 by 14,000. They have been doing it also in the State Government almost all the time although then controlled in some degree by State issues, and have had a long line of Republican Governors, broken only by the Fusion candidate, Gov. Plaisted, who was elected in 1886 by 189 plurality. In view of the past as well as the present, we can see no sign of alarm to the Democracy. And consolation and encouragement must be scarce for the "G (one) O (ut) P (arty) when they make so much ado about having a reduced plurality in Maine.

Worthy of Imitation.

Mr. Loening, United States consul at Bremen, in a report to our government on the condition of the wage-workers of that city, speaks of the intelligence of a class of shop hands. He says "they are well posted in the current news and are good politicians," and then proceed to tell how it happens that the shop hands in that city are so much above the average mechanic in intelligence and information. He says: "Every morning in these large factories a good reader is picked out to read the morning papers to them (the workmen), while the other workmen contribute so much to make up his amount of work while he reads." Such a plan does not cost each laborer probably one-tenth what he would pay for a copy of the paper, and he also saves the time he would otherwise spend in reading it.

There are many trades in which such a plan could be adopted in this country, like cigar-making and others where there is little noise to disturb the reader, and it is worthy of adoption. It has been asserted that one-half the troubles of the laboring classes spring from the fact that they are unacquainted with events of the day, condition of the markets, state of trade, and kindred subjects. If that is true the Bremen plan offers the easiest, cheapest, and quickest solution of the difficulty. It is worth a trial, and there is no reason why its adoption should not have the same salutary effect upon the American that it does upon the foreign mechanic and artisan.

The New Mill.

The question of the location of the steam mill we are happy to learn has been settled and men had commenced cleaning off the old site to make room for the new structure, which will be a magnificent brick much superior in every respect to the old mill. The idle rumors that were floating around town that unless Messrs. Keynes & Wellman rebuilt on the old site another mill would be erected were without foundation, and of course have no weight upon the minds of Keynes & Wellman; they wanted rail road facilities and were determined to have them, if not at the old stand then at or near the depot where we are informed there is a very beautiful site and very convenient for farm teams in fact in this latter particular it is said that teams would be more shut off from the trains than in the old yard. But when certain liberal minded citizens of the town secured subscriptions sufficient, and assured Messrs. Keynes & Wellman that a switch would be built for them free of charge, this settled the whole question, and we will again hear the sound of the whistle at the foot of Market street as of old.

South Eastern Ohio Fair.

We spent two days of last week, shaking hands with the people at the above named fair, and renewing the many pleasant acquaintances of our youth. We were impressed with the fact that our own poetic "Will" Carleton misconceived the truth when he wrote—

"We clasp the hands of former friends,
We feel again their kiss,
But something that we loved in them;
In sorrow now we miss;
For women fade and men grow cold
As years go hurrying by,
And there's nothing like an old time
To make the heart beat high."

We feel confident Carleton never attended a fair where he met the "Friends of Long Ago."

Twenty years have dealt kindly with the fair ones with whom we romped in boyhood, and the hearts of the men have not "grown cold" by cares and unsatisfied desires.

Time, its true, has in some instances tinged the hair with "silver threads," and the faces are not so youthful, but the "Something that we loved in them" still remains, and in their presence we again feel young.

The fair was excellent in most departments, although, inferior in some things to previous meetings of the association. Some, we think needless, disappointment, was expressed, as well as depressing predictions concerning the future. Our experience has taught us that no fair has a uniformly successful course, and the apparent failure to procure numerous entries in speed classes, should stimulate the management to greater efforts, and if proper effort is put forth, we venture the prediction that next year's fair will in all probability be better in every respect than any preceding one.

One of the features of the fair was the Adelphi Border News. This enterprising journal made a parade on the grounds on Thursday at 10 a. m. The procession was led by the band, and comprised more than thirty carriers who distributed the edition of 9000 Border News, gratuitously. We wish the Border News success.

Grand Surprise. A grand surprise was had at the residence of Mr. John Cook, in Green township, on Sept. 14th. The party met near the residence of the widow Donelson after which, headed by the Gore band marched to Mr. Cook's residence. Mr. Cook was sitting in the house, when the band began playing he looked out and began to cry. The party consisted of ninety persons. After the party arrived the ladies, who were numerous, prepared dinner. A table was spread with the best luxuries the farmers could afford. The ladies displayed a grand assortment of cakes. Doc Smith, trustee of Green township, got hold of the honey-dish and left the platter clean.

The occasion was Mr. Cook's 55th birth day. After dinner was over the whole party, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Cook next to the band, marched to the peach orchard, and after making a raid on the peaches, returned to the house where excellent music was furnished by the band. The party dispersed at 4 o'clock. Mr. Cook desires to thank his many friends through the columns of the DEMOCRAT for their kindness toward him.
